

Learning for Living

Learning for Living is our service model for older children and teens aged between 8 and 18 years of age. The service emphasises the development of functional daily living and coping skills that support greater independence and inclusion within the home, at school and in the wider community.

Typically, individuals accessing this program have complex needs that have not been re-mediated through early intervention. It becomes even more critical to prioritise those developmental areas that will allow him/her to experience a greater quality of life. This service has been designed to focus on increasing those life skills which provide the most immediate and all encompassing benefit to the individual.

Specific treatment targets are determined based on their relevance to daily life, e.g. showering, and ability to enhance that individual's self advocacy skills, e.g. using icons to communicate.
